BASICS SCOTLAND

Tele-education Code of Conduct

Welcome to the BASICS Scotland Tele-education course. This course combines use of video conferencing and online elements. To access the online course web page, you are required to agree to the website terms and conditions which are outlined in the Terms and Conditions of Use for BASICS Scotland's Website and the BASICS Scotland's Privacy Policy. To participate in Tele-education, we also require you to agree to the following code of conduct outlined below.

The Tele-Education Course and its content are subject to the following terms:

- Application to Tele-Education is only available to registered health professionals.
- As part of a group learning experience, candidates are reminded that the needs of each course candidate will be different.
- Live sessions will be recorded and the recordings will be available for registered participants to access through the BASICS E-learning website.
- Access to live sessions and to the video recordings is only granted to the registered candidates. It is not acceptable to offer access to these to anyone else unless permission has been granted in writing by BASICS Scotland.
- You may access content solely for your information and personal use. BASICS Scotland tele-education learning materials, including recordings of education sessions, may not be downloaded, copied, reproduced, distributed, transmitted, broadcast, displayed, sold, licensed, or otherwise exploited for any other purpose whatsoever. Accessing the content for any other purpose or in any manner is expressly prohibited.
- You agree to not use or exploit the BASICS Scotland content in any manner inconsistent with any of the rights granted or restrictions set forth herein, including, without limitation, prohibitions on downloading, redistribution, alteration, deletion and deactivation of any content protection mechanisms. You are not allowed to modify, enhance, edit, translate, adapt, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, or create derivative works based upon or otherwise alter in part or in full any BASICS Scotland material.
- All material available to candidates is monitored and anyone who is found to be in breach of this code of conduct will be removed from the course.

By signing below, you are agreeing to the above Code of Conduct terms.
